The Arizona Advisory Committee to the United States Commission on Civil Rights is hosting a series of online public panels to hear testimony regarding COVID-19 and Native American community in the state. The Committee will consider civil rights concerns of how the COVID-19 pandemic has impacted Native American communities with respect to healthcare and local economies, and specifically whether there has been any discrimination or a denial of equal protection of the laws under the Constitution because of race, color, sex, age, disability, national origin, or in the administration of justice. Through this fact-finding exercise, the Committee will provide recommendations on the legislation and administration of these topics.
