The U.S. Commission on Civil Rights Announces the Appointment of Advisory Committee Members for Nine States

The U.S. Commission on Civil Rights congratulates the following individuals on their appointments as members of our state Advisory Committees.

Chair Catherine E. Lhamon said, “The Commission’s Committees advise us about the state of civil rights in their respective states, lifting up important issues that Committee members encounter in their own communities. We are grateful for their service, and look forward to their insight into civil rights across the country.”

Advisory Committees have recently examined voting rights, civil rights impacts of education funding, seclusion and restraint of students with disabilities, women’s prisons, civil asset forfeiture, immigration issues, policing practices, human trafficking, fair housing, payday lending, and criminal justice issues, including solitary confinement policies in prisons and disparate incarceration rates. In addition to advising the Commission, Advisory Committee reports may lead to policy changes at the national, state or local levels. More information about the work of the Commission’s Advisory Committees can be found here.
